

ISO 22000

We Know Standards

WELCOME TO FACTOCERT

RIGHT CERTIFICATION WILL GET YOU
REAL VALUE

ABOUT US

Factocert is an Epitome of consultation inculcating industry best practices. Our pragmatic approach delineates the requirements of ISO Standards, CE Mark, VAPT, Six Sigma, Process Audit and other International Standards. Intellectual Curiosity of our Consulting team provides a better approach in understanding the unmet needs of the customers which leads the way in delivering sustainable solutions. Our consulting experts carry their domain experience in order to fulfill the customer requirements enabling us to be a one stop solution. Clients count on Factocert to help them transform uncertainty into possibility.

ISO 22000 CERTIFICATION

What is ISO 22000 certification?

ISO

22000 or in other words food safety management system focus majorly on food industry where the purpose is to deliver the food to the end customer or the consumer in a safety limit.

Consider

food chain, many organizations are involved at many stages of food chain. The food industry can be called as a vast industry. Here food safety management system is recognized by global food safety initiative. Some of the organization who are involved in food chain can be listed such as food processing, food packaging, food manufacturing, food transportation, food preservatives, food storage.

ISO

22000 standard specifies the requirement that are necessary for the organization who are into food business and provides a key element in order to ensure food safety at any stage of food chain. ISO 22000 can be applied independently of other management system and top management team can have at most importance to protect the food safety at all point of time. HACCP principal is also associated with ISO 22000 Certification and integration of these two concepts will provide certain assurance for the client which will maintain the hygiene environmental factors in the food chain and bring stability for the production packaging storage transportation and many other stages in the food industry.

HALAL CERTIFICATION

Halal is nothing but a term from Quran which means lawful. When it comes to Islamic people, people who are following the Islamic law must obey some set of rules and regulations in order to keep their religious intact. Countries where the Muslim population are more will certainly have restaurants and hotels with halal certification. According to Islamic law the meat can only be consumed if the animal is slaughtered with certain instructions. This method is called as the permitted way to take the life of that animal. This procedure consists of the cleanliness, hygiene condition of the food be in a balanced mode. The Halal Meat is scientifically proven as a healthy meat to consume. HALAL certification plays a major role in customer acquisition. Organization where the halal certification is must and should made by many countries in middle each. Get a free quote on HALAL certification, just drop us an email at contact@factocert.com

Halal Certification service are essential because if you're facing the Halal audit in worldwide you have to be very careful about every parameter in your organization but when you join hands with Factocert. We as an Halal Consultancy Service provider in worldwide, are tagged up with so many different Halal Certification bodies in worldwide.

CONTACT US

Web - www.factocert.com

Phone - +91 88616 45596

Mail - factocert@gmail.com